

GUSHING OIL WELL IS SHOWN IN FILM

It Was a Hard Thing to Find for Paramount Picture Now Showing at Grand.

The completion of the Cleo-Ridge-Wallace-Reid production, "The House of the Golden Windows," a Paramount release showing today at the Robinson Grand, was held up for some time, while George Melford, the Lasky director, was casting about for a nice gushing oil well that would gush at the call of the camera. Mr. Melford was not particular as to the brand of oil—it could be olive, coal or castor, but one requisite was essential—it must be "broke" to motion picture work and not look at the lens. Several oil wells were tried out but they all got stage fright and refused to gush at the word of command. Finally the desired scene was filmed.

"The Grip of Evil," third episode, and the Paramount Pictographs are also on the bill.

Tomorrow, Edmund Breese will appear in "Weakness of Strength."

H. B. Warner, the famous star of the speaking stage, who endeared himself to millions by his immortal portrayal of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," soon will be seen for the fifth time on the screen, when he is presented by Thomas H. Ince in "The Vagabond Prince," an original Triangle play from the pen of J. G. Hawks. The subject was recently completed at the Ince studios in Culver City and is now being prepared for an early release. "The Vagabond Prince" is the colorful tale of a petted young nobleman who came to America in search for adventure and became the dominant figure in a delightful romance.

The cast engaged by Arthur Hopkins to present the farce, "Good Gracious, Annabelle," included Lola Fisher, May Vokes, Walter Hampden, Edwin Holland and Ruth Harding.

"Object—Matrimony," the comedy by Montague Glass and Jules Eckert Goodman, is to be produced this week in Washington. The production will be made by William A. Brady, and some of the prominent roles will be played by Mathilde Cottrelly, Marjorie Wood and Jess Dandy.

House Peters and Gail Kane are co-starred in "The Velvet Paw" at the Orpheum theater today.

This is an interesting story of life in Washington as led by the members of Congress and the Senate. How a woman's influence nearly set the house upside down and the effect of lobbyists on legislation is the theme of this extraordinary world, Brady-Made picture. Written by Paul West and directed by Maurice Tourneur at the Paragon studio it is said to be one of the most absorbing and timely subjects to be released in many months. Other pictures of a very interesting type are also presented.

Tomorrow, Dorothy Gish and an all star cast will appear in a Triangle play by D. W. Griffith, called "Gretchen the Greenhorn." "The Danger Girl," a fast Keystone comedy, will also be shown.

"Fair and Warner," the farce by Avery Hopwood, had such hordes of out-of-town visitors during its long run in New York that a demand for it was created in literally every part of this country. In answer to that demand, Selwyn and Company are sending it here with an ideal cast, so that no part of its humor, its ludicrous situation, its witty lines or its general air of smartness shall be lost.

George V. Hobart's new farce, "What Is Your Husband Doing?" was recently produced at Toledo, O., with Thomas W. Ross and Maclyn Arbuckle in the leading roles.

Julia Arthur is to appear under her own management in a romantic play by William Lindsay, called "Sere-monda," a story of the times of the crusades.

Here is the mystery girl of Clarksburg and may be seen by hundreds of local people but no one can touch her. She will travel through space before your very eyes, will appear, disappear and reappear in the most surprising manner imaginable. Thousands of people all over the world have tried to solve the great mystery surrounding her, but all have failed. Can you? She is Miss Crystal Williams, a pretty little assistant with Richards, the Wizard, who opened a week's engagement at the Palace. Mr. Richards is the legitimate successor to the great Lafayette and is now presenting one of the most amazing and bewildering performances ever witnessed on an American stage. There is an abundance of good, clean comedy, new music, mystery, novelty and splendor, with a change of program Wednesday and Friday.

CINCO CIGARS

Now Five Cents Straight.

Owing to the increased cost of production, the manufacturers of CINCO CIGARS, OTTO EISENLOHR & BROS., INCORPORATED, have advanced their selling price to the dealers, and, in future, this cigar will be sold to the consumer absolutely at five cents straight, instead of six for a quarter, as heretofore.

The CINCO Cigar has attained a national reputation, and, through the maintenance of a high standard of quality, has become the largest seller in the world, and the manufacturers deemed it advisable to advance the price rather than sacrifice its long-established high quality.—Advertisement.

SUPPLY

Of Cockerels is Gone but There Still Remains Small Number of White Leghorns.

MORGANTOWN, Sept. 25.—Not long ago the West Virginia agricultural extension department announced by way of the various newspapers throughout the state that pure bred cockerels of different breeds could be secured by club members and farmers to head their flocks, provided certain conditions be met. To the credit, it must be said, of the effective circulation given to this information by the newspapers and to the desire of farmers of the state to improve their flocks, orders have been received in such numbers that the department regrets very much to announce that the supply of Rhode Island Reds and Barred Plymouth Rocks has been entirely exhausted and that these valuable birds can not now be secured at any price or by meeting any conditions.

However, there still remain available a small number of pure bred White Leghorn cockerels for distribution to those persons meeting the requirement as previously set forth.

Col. William F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill).

Many novel features are promised for the Buffalo Bill-101 Ranch Wild West show which Clarksburg is to see for two performances Thursday, September 28.

Push-ball, with contestants afoot and on horseback, is strongly featured this year, a fact which is said to be justified by the rough-and-tumble character of this exciting contest. The Indians, who are led by the noted Chief Flying Hawk, are, it is announced, more picturesquely and effectively employed than in other years. All the Indian braves are utilized in the attack on the pioneers' camp; they give a genuine buffalo hunt, and they illustrate their native ghost, white-dog, green-corn and other aboriginal dances. In the stage-coach holdup, as well as in the reproduction of the attack on Columbus, N. M., there are Mexican vaqueros and soldiers, both Villalatas and Caranzistas, and they give an interesting color to the lively picture. A troop of Cossacks with their small ponies and high saddles, interestingly contrast the method of riding in vogue in the Russian Caucasus and the western plains. The announcement is made that Col. William F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill), will be in the saddle at both performances and will actively participate in the great military spectacle, "Preparedness," which is this season's biggest feature, as well as in the preliminary free street parade which takes place at 10:30 on the morning of show day.
